Description

Let's start by defining what a portfolio website is. At its most basic form, a portfolio website provides professional information about an individual or a company and presents a showcase of their work. ... To supply site visitors with information about the individual or company. To showcase work

The screenshot shows a professional portfolio website. At the top, there is a dark header bar with a small logo and a search bar. Below the header, a large, bold title 'I AM A DESIGNER' is displayed in a light blue font. The main content area is divided into three columns. The left column contains a bio: 'I am a professional designer based in London, UK. I have over 10 years of experience in the design industry. I specialize in web design, graphic design, and branding. I have worked with clients from all over the world, including small businesses and large corporations. I am a member of the Royal Society of Arts (RSA) and the Chartered Society of Designers (CSD). I am also a member of the London Designers Network (LDN). I am currently working on a new project for a client in the fashion industry. I am looking for a new challenge and am open to offers.' The middle column contains a 'Work' section with a grid of five thumbnail images, each with a title: 'Graphic Design', 'Web Design', 'Branding', 'UI/UX', and 'Photography'. The right column contains a 'Contact' section with a form to 'Send a message' and a 'Get in touch' button. At the bottom, there is a footer with social media links for LinkedIn, Facebook, and Twitter, and a copyright notice: 'Copyright © 2020 I AM A DESIGNER. All rights reserved.'
